The image is a screenshot of a web browser showing the Microsoft Teams 'Meeting now' page. At the top, the browser tabs show 'IITS Test Class GAFE Pilot' and 'Microsoft Teams'. The address bar displays a Teams meeting URL. A permission dialog box from 'teams.microsoft.com' is open, asking for microphone and camera access, with 'Allow' and 'Block' buttons. A red circle with the number '9' and a callout box with the text 'If asked click allow' has a red arrow pointing to the 'Allow' button. Below the dialog, the page title is 'Meeting now'. A video feed area shows a blurred image of a person. Below the video, there is a name input field containing 'Dan', a 'Join now' button, and icons for video, microphone, and settings. A red circle with the number '10' and a callout box with the text 'Enter your name and click join now' has two red arrows: one pointing to the name field and another pointing to the 'Join now' button. At the bottom, there are 'Other join options' including 'Audio off' and 'Phone audio'.
